

As mentioned by Yuhao, location based note notification is so that important. Our team tried our best to make it not only useful but also easy to use. Let us have a look at that how can we write a note with location notification. First, start to add a new note as usual. Click this text to set the alert location. Then, change your alert location and save. Finally, type in the message and save the note. That is done. Everything is so that simple. Imagine, only with these few clicks, you can get the wanted meal when walking into a restaurant, get the film you like when walking into a cinema, get the unfinished work when walking into your office. Our team think this function will be really amazing for our users.

Location based note notification is not the only function of NOTE. You can login with your Facebook account. You can share your note with your friends via Facebook. You can set an alert time so that NOTE can notify you at that time. You can sort the notes with the order of alert location or the order of last edited time. You can also insert photos into your note. And so many other functions are waiting for you to discover. Just install NOTE and prepare for tomorrow. That's all of NOTE. Thank you.
